Cyberbahn Group joins the Carswell Team

Corporate services and litigation workflow services raise the bar for Canadian corporate, legal customers

Carswell, Canada's leading provider of intelligent information and research solutions to the legal, finance and human resources markets has acquired Cyberbahn Group, the leading online corporate solutions and litigation support services provider for law firms, government agencies, financial institutions and the broader business community.

This extends the expansive Carswell workflow service offerings to include online business registration filings, corporate information retrieval and litigation services, including filing and retrieval of court documents for law firms and the broader business community.

The Cyberbahn Group, consisting of Cyberbahn, Legal Link and CorpLink, is noted for its service excellence and strategic expansion of corporate and litigation offerings. Cyberbahn has become the business/litigation support product of choice for legal and business professionals across Canada.

"Cyberbahn Group is a highly respected organization in the Canadian marketplace and we are excited to bring these two businesses together," said Don Van Meer, president and CEO of Carswell. "As part of the Carswell team, Cyberbahn Group will play an important role in significantly extending the range of transactional law products and services for our customers."

"This is an excellent opportunity for Cyberbahn Group to expand its coverage across Canada and enhance its capabilities by leveraging the market position and capabilities of Carswell and Thomson Reuters," said Cyberbahn Group President Morris Klid. "I am especially pleased by our partnership with Canada's market leader and I look forward to building our business and delivering even more powerful transactional law and litigation solutions to legal professionals in Canada."

Researchers will now save time by using a singular access point for both the premium Cyberbahn workflow forms, and the market-leading Carswell legal products and litigation solutions.
